Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Daughter of Bohemia: A Novel Ah, wasteful woman, she who may On her sweet self set her own price, Knowing he cannot choose hat pay, How has she cheapened paradise; How given for naught her priceless gift; How spoiled the thread and spilled the wine, Which, spent with dae respective thrift, Had made brutes men, and men divine! On one of the most quiet and deeply shaded of the shaded streets which are the boast of the pleasant Southern city of Alton, stands a handsome double house with a portico in front, and wide piazzas on the side, running the whole length of the building, and overlooking a flower-garden of considerable extent and great beauty. Opening by French windows upon the lower of these piazzas is the breakfast-room, into which, on a certain bright morning of May - the 5th of the month, if any one likes to be particular - roses of almost countless number and variety were sending their fragrance, together with the buoyant air and golden sunshine. The breakfast-table, spread with delicate china and bright silver, occupied the centre of the floor; but as yet no member of the household had made an appearance on the scene. Despite the fact that the sun had been about the business of lighting and warming the earth long enough, it seemed, to rouse all sluggards from repose; despite the impatience of the cook, whose muffins were hopelessly falling, or the gloomy face of the footman, who held punctuality to be a cardinal virtue in masters and mistresses, the clock chimed half-past nine before the first step a leisurely, creaking, somewhat important step was heard...
