Boydell Brewer Ltd, United Kingdom, 2004. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Although there were a number of outstanding women writers of the late middle ages, it was not thought that women composed lyric poetry. Albrecht Classen s careful investigation of archival material, however, proves this to be a misconception, and in this volume he presents a selection of secular love songs and religious hymns composed by fifteenth- and sixteenth-century German women poets, here translated for the first time, based on his two-volume edition in the original language. Many women seem to have left their works anonymously, or hid their names in their texts using acrostics; in these and other cases, applying appropriate research tools, Classen has identified a considerable corpus of women s poetry which now promises to fill the gap previously supposed to exist in the history of medieval and early-modern German women s poetry.
